Editor of the Cayley Hustler

Dear Sir,—With your permission I will add my quota to your editorial in 'reference to the Herd Law. I may say, that I am well aware that the man who distributes moral dynamite is not very likely to add to his popularity thereby, but as the present law has been in existence since when Abraham Saar and the old rancher held undisputed sway, it is about time that some one should make a move for a change. Judging from intercourse with my neighbors, I do believe that one settler in a dozen favors the present system, by which one slothful farmer is able to become a community nuisance by feeding his breechy cattle on his neighbors' grain fields or in his barn yard, under the plea that they are running at large; and why our members of parliament should prefer to cater for the votes of the old rancher at the expense of the better class of farmers is a something not very easy understood, and why such men are selected as members is a still more difficult proposition. As the Alberta legislature is now in session, I may add one practical suggestion, and that is, let every farmer in the vicinity write to his member, explaining that under the present law any man who lacks self-respect becomes a community menance, and demanding that a law be enacted by which a man who keeps stock must be compelled to make provision for them or be liable to severe penalties. If this protest was made by a large number of voters it would not pass unheeded, more especially if a clause were inserted, stating that in future their votes would be influenced more largely by the members' conduct than by the color of his partisan brand.

Yours, &c., NON-PARTISAN

Editor of Cayley Hustler

Dear Sir,—Allow me to congratulate you on the Cayley Hustler, not so much on its size, but on the ambition of its editor. The Hustler is not as large as some of our Toronto papers, that is true. Too many men, however, because they cannot do some great thing are not willing to do the little things that they could do, which would grow to greater things. I look upon the Hustler as the Magna Charta of Cayley. Now, Mr. Editor, judging from the growth and prosperity of Cayley, the town must be full of such men as yourself, and I am very pleased that my son has chosen a place with that class of citizens to start business in, and I hope that he may prove to be one more added. Inclosed find 35c subscription for the Cayley Hustler. Yours respectfully,

WM. NABLO.

Cayuga, Ont.

Editor Cayley Hustler.

Dear Sir,—No doubt you will be surprised to hear from the writer. However, I wish to forward my subscription to your valuable paper, also send some clippings from which you may take some extracts for publication. If you like more of them from time to time, let me know. Very glad to note you are working for the advancement of Cayley, which has for some time badly needed a hustling representative like yourself. I presume you will need extra postage to forward the Hustler here, will you not? If so, let me know. In reply, then I will forward the amount. Yours truly,

A. E. WALKER

Seattle, Wash.

The fellows who will achieve greatness some day are busy on the road, now.

In regard to shelter at flag stations the dominion railway commission has issued orders that at stations in the provinces of Alberta, Saskatchewan and Manitoba where business amounts to $15,000 a year, $2,00 of it inward there must be supplied accommodation for passengers and freight. At flag stations where the grain shipments last year aggregated 50,000 bushels, the railway must place a temporary agent in charge from Sept. 1 to Dec. 31.

EDITORIALS

It is with pleasure that the Hustler learns that the Village Council is studying the question of fire protection, for there is nothing else that is more needed in this place. The village was never in a better position financially than it is now to deal with such a question, for, practically speaking, it is without debt. Something that few go-a-head villages in the west can say, and if there is not enough money in the treasury to buy a suitable machine something that will be permanent in its usefulness for at least many years, why not the village make a loan?

Or another good plan would be to start a Fire Protection Fund, for where is the man that would not give to such a worthy cause, even if he is a taxpayer or not?

May our council do something definite and effective along this line.

It is to be hoped that the Cemetery Committee is not buried with other business cares, that they have forgotten to push the work that was given them to do. Don't wait until spring, when everybody will be rushed with work to get the place fenced and the shares paid up.

Call on A. M. DeLong for transfers, mortgages, caveats, naturalization papers, etc., and all forms of conveyancing. Commissioner for taking affidavits.

Cayley's new council met for the first time this year on Jan. 24, in Elves Bros.' store. Chairman Beaton in the chair; town clerk Caspel was in his place, with the other members.

After going over the routine business, the question of assessment came up, and the clerk was asked to make out a new one and present it to the next regular meeting which is to be held on Feb. 28th, the council deciding that they would meet on that date or as near it each month.

It was also agreed that it was time that the town took some steps in fire protection. A large hand pump or a chemical engine may be bought. The clerk was authorised to write for prices.

About 500 feet of sidewalk will most likely be laid at an early date in the village.

Cayley was favored with a visit from Mr. Roberts, M.P.P., on the 2nd inst. In the afternoon Mr. Roberts met with a large number of the electors in Macdonald's hall where they discussed many important matters of concern to the district and province, the question of the moment being the proposed new road and grade across Squaw Coulee, that is to the west of Cayley.

Mr. Roberts asked whether it was still the desire of the people that the government help them with this new proposed road by putting in a bridge across the coulee, or to have it make a new grade on the old road allowance. By a standing vote the electors showed that they favored the new road.

Before adjourning, a vote of thanks was tendered Mr. Roberts

More than $90,000,000 worth of American gold was exported to Canada last year. That at least is the effect of emigration from the States into Canada in 1909. Some 90,148 emigrants came into Canada from the States last year and the Canadian immigration commissioner has estimated that the average wealth of these American settlers was $1,000.

Don't miss the debate on Women's Rights in Macdonald's hall Friday, Feb. 18th.

Fifty-nine men of Toronto have decided to join the R.N.W.M.P. How would you like to watch them learn to ride?

The masquerade ball, which was held in Macdonald's hall Friday night, the 4th inst., was by all accounts a great success.

Mr. Ellwood, who lives west of Cayley, had a runaway when he was in town the other day. The damage was not very great, the pole of the rig being broken.

The ladies' aid of the Presbyterian church will hold a box social in Macdonald's hall on Friday evening, Feb. 18. Everybody is welcome. Price of boxes limited to 50c.

The following farmers each shipped a carload of grain from Cayley lately—Messrs. F. Crawford, J. Jacobin, C. Gardner J. McConkey and Mr. Hocart. Most of it went west.

The choir of the Cayley Methodist church has just been reorganized. It is now fifteen strong, and under the leadership of Mr. Geo. Wickens is doing splendid work. Hear it and its male quartette.

The building season has opened early in Cayley this year, two new buildings are under construction. J. M. Glendenning, M.P.P., is building a large implement building for the Massey-Harris Co., and Mr. Smith is building an office for Mr. Geo. Robertson, Cayley's real estate agent.

Who would want to leave Sunny Alberta?

Get ready for the musical festival that will be held in Claresholm on March 30th. This will be the treat of the season.

For over a week in the Cayley district we have had it warm; so warm that the business places had their doors open through the day.

Mr. Chas. Gardner, who lives a mile or so from Cayley, was harvesting on the 22nd of January, and claimed the land worked well.

Mr. Taylor is the new teacher in the Braemar school. We wish Mr. Taylor every success in his new charge.

Not many newspapers have men offering to buy them out before their third issue was out, but that is what the Hustler has had. Two in one week.

As this is written the noise of the builder can be heard. All kinds of building and construction work is going on in Alberta at full speed.

While in Ontario the people are being nearly frozen and kept in the house on account of winter weather, and the people of the coast are losing themselves in fogs and darkness, and the people of France are being flooded, the people of Sunny Alberta are enjoying the most beautiful weather.
